About 12th WEEC

The World Environmental Education Congress (WEEC) is the definitive global platform for education in environmental and sustainable development. Every two years, thousands of delegates from over 100 countries come together at WEEC to shape the sustainability transformation – connecting the subject matter experts, governmental organisations, businesses, and individuals who are defining the pathway for a better tomorrow.

This unique educational forum brings together the people who are responsible for the ideas, investment, vision, and behaviors that makes real change happen. For 20 years WEEC has been a must-do in the sustainability and environmental calendar.

Today more than ever, WEEC delivers the information, networking, and opportunities under one roof to be part of the next stage of the sustainability transformation.

History of WEEC Congress

Highlighting Abu Dhabi's Conservation Efforts

WEEC takes place in the Middle East for the very first time and this presents the perfect opportunity for UAE to present itself as thought leaders in environmental education.

As a platform of influence, WEEC enhances Abu Dhabi's position as a vital centre of government excellence, innovation and learning globally, spotlighting the work Abu Dhabi has undertaken through regional and international collaborations.

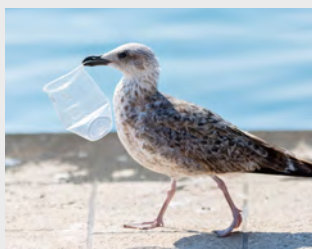

Highlights efforts taken by Abu Dhabi to preserve its rich culture and heritage to ensure that it is well protected as well as remains an integral part of Abu Dhabi's future.

Bring into focus Abu Dhabi's initiatives to protect biodiversity and habitats; especially the long-term research and monitoring programmes providing vital knowledge on the status and trends of important terrestrial and marine species. Such long-term data are key to understanding trends in populations and taking corrective actions.
